Airliner4Animals e.V.

(e.V. = registered non-profit organization)

Animals often suffer hardship, not least as a result of "human" actions.

Unfortunately, too few people are concerned about the welfare of these animals.

Please help us face up to our responsibilities and support projects that relieve the plight of our fellow creatures.

The aim of our Association is to provide financial and practical support for such non-profit projects.

Specifically, we flight personnel can travel worldwide and support selected projects personally.

At the same time, we ensure your donations and membership fees are put to good use.

Why not support us?

We fly to help !

Support projects to protect animals worldwide...

...that we are directly involved in and to which we maintain close contact through project sponsorship.

We flight personnel travel the world and often come across committed individuals who devote themselves with heart and soul to the welfare of animals. They save them from certain death or from miserable living conditions. They provide them with the food, veterinary care and affection that many of them probably experience for the first time. They also work as a placement center and provide animals with a new home with people that appreciate them and are willing to provide them with the opportunity to live a dignified life.

The idea behind our Association was born. We carefully select projects, provide them with long-term support and care either by incorporating them in our sponsorship program, or via direct unbureaucratic aid from our urgency fund. Furthermore, as a registered non-profit organization we can inspire many more people to take an interest in our ideas.

As representatives of our members and donors, we ensure that funds made available to us are used solely to benefit animals. Every project is supervised by a project sponsor.

Our current sponsorship projects

Tierschutzverein Kelsterbach e.V.

Wildlife protection, small animals, exotic species, private care stations

It is here that many foundlings, injured and abandoned animals are looked after, often involving considerable work and at substantial cost. This was the first project we decided to support, as it is all too often needy indigenous wildlife that is forgotten. By selecting this project, it was our aim to strike a blow for these creatures.

Taro Germany e.V.

Rescue, shelter and care for street dogs in Turkey/Edremit

In addition to the high cost of food, castrations and comprehensive veterinary care make our help especially valuable. In 2015, the old rescue center with its 200 dogs had to be vacated. Taro Germany was forced to make a fresh start. By a miracle, it had the opportunity to take over a new site in Edremit where it could invest its modest resources in laying the groundwork for good animal protection on a completely empty terrain. Our support is very welcome here.

Tierhilfe Angel da Relva e.V.

Castration projects for dogs and cats in the Azores, animal placement

Tierhilfe Angel da Relva has taken on responsibility for the cat colonies that they were told about by the locals and tourists. The cats are caught, castrated and then taken back to the place they live. This is excellent animal welfare. The cats are used to living in the wild and are permitted to continue doing so, but are prevented from breeding. Along with disabled cats and dogs that have difficulties surviving in the wild, the only animals that are taken to the animal placement center are those that have obviously been abandoned and that are accustomed to living with people.

Anna's Care for straydogs Non Profit Organisation

Rescue and care for street dogs in Greece

One day Anna began feeding and castrating stray dogs in northern Greece. The local mayor later provided her with a small piece of land (without electricity and water), and she set up a little shelter with the few funds at her disposal. Her exemplary personal commitment has now been recognized and her work has been granted the status of a non-profit organization, and one that we are very happy to support. Small projects have the most acute financial problems.

SANParks Honorary Ranger Dogs Projekt K9 - Non Profit Organisation

A special group of dogs to fight against poachers and save elephants and rhinos

Rangers train different breeds of dogs to be specialists in tracking down poachers and injured animals. At the gates of the Kruger National Park, they help to find hidden weapons and ammunition. What particularly attracted us to this project was that our beloved dogs are actively involved in helping and protecting other animals. Airliner4Animals supports this project in two senses: in addition to food and care, our assistance helps finance dog training. We hope this project will ensure that elephants and rhinos still exist in 50 years' time.

Urgency fund and work assignments

On top of the long-term support we deliver to projects via our sponsorship program, our urgency fund is available to provide short-term assistance. Furthermore, we take on work assignments in projects that have not yet received non-profit status. In this manner, we assist the only way we can and hopefully help them to be recognized as non-profit organizations at a later date.
